DISCUSS PLANS FOR BUILDING AT BOARD MEETING

The board of education at its meeting Monday evening in the library of the central building discussed and examined the working plans of the architect for the contemplated building on the property on the corner of Cross and Adams streets. A special meeting will be called for the early future and at that time action will be taken relative to the special election to be called on account of this new building.

Mrs. Maurice Lathers was employed by the board to assist Miss Jessie Swaine with the sewing and cooking classes. Fifty high school girls desire to take sewing this year which has made it necessary for Miss Swaine to give up some of her cooking classes. Mrs. Lathers will spend only a part of the time at this work.

WHAT IS BEST IN A FARM

INTERESTING DISCUSSION ENJOYED BY GRANGERS AT LAST MEETING.

The Ypsilanti Grange was entertained on Saturday at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Carpenter, this city. The grangers assembled in the morning and at noon an appetizing dinner was served the one hundred present.

The program opened with a vocal solo by Hon. A. J. Campbell. The program was in charge of George Gill, Jr., and the theme for the afternoon, "What I would look for if I were to buy a farm," called forth much animated discussion. R. J. Bird said he would consider first water supply and natural drainage. Elmer Jameson was of the opinion that a clay with a subsoil of yellow clay would suit him; he would want natural or tile drainage, and as for location, he would wish a farm three or five miles from a town. The same distance from town was also preferred by Mrs. W. W. Vernon, who expresses besides a preference for rolling land, and for the presence of some timber on a farm. Location and good soil were the points Mrs. D. V. Harris remarked she would first consider. Mr. Gill, who led the discussion, thought that dark clay soil was best of all.

Mrs. Frank Fletcher gave a book review. The roll call, to which all responded with current events, brought out a variety of recent events which had interested the members of the grange.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks in Masonic Temple.

Mr. Cropsey has purchased a big farm in Oceana county and will move there early in the spring.

For years he has been practically boss of the Republican party in this part of the state. It was largely through his efforts that Governor Osborn was able to carry this county in the Republican primaries a year ago.

TAFT IN CORNER OF THE COUNTRY

President Now Has Visited Each of the Four.

LIKES PUGET SOUND DISTRICT

Tells People of Bellingham, Wash., that Canada Made Mistake in Rejecting Reciprocity — Also Talks of Panama Canal.

Everett, Wash., Oct. 10.—President Taft's visit to Bellingham, Wash., extended his travels to the fourth corner of the country. He has now visited San Diego on the extreme southwest, Florida on the southeast, Eastport, Me., in the northeast, and this trip carried him within thirty miles of British Columbia in the northwest.

Mr. Taft is the first president to have visited Bellingham and the extreme northwest section of the country and they took advantage of his one day visit to impress upon him the great possibilities of the country.

"You have a wonderful state," said Mr. Taft. Its increase in population in the last ten years was 170 per cent; increase in farm values nearly 500 per cent, from $99,000,000 to over $500,000,000 in value. That ought to satisfy even the ambition of a citizen of Washington."

The president enjoyed a long ride along the border of Puget Sound. Though the sun was out, it rained intermittently about every half hour during the drive. There was a light sprinkle while the president addressed an outdoor audience of several thousand people, but the folk of Bellingham think nothing of rain.

The president had originally had in mind an address on reciprocity for Bellingham, it being his intention to come close to the Canadian border to speak on that topic. He admitted in his speech that he had thought of speaking on reciprocity under very different circumstances. He said:

"There is one topic that I had intended to discuss with you, but our near neighbors across the border settled that a week or ten days ago and seemed to make it past history. But I think you will agree with me that in so doing they made a mistake, and that had that treaty gone through it would have been greatly beneficial to both countries.

"You, my fellow citizens, are as much interested as any body of men in the whole 90,000,000 in the completion of the Panama canal, for while it serves the great purpose of developing the efficiency of our navy, the real benefit that is to come in greater measure than in any other way is the connection between the west coast of the United States and the east coast of the United—between the west coast of the United States and Europe."

The president's trip took him down the east side of Puget Sound from Bellingham to Seattle, through the towns of Mount Vernon, Everett and Burlington.

STUDENT DIES SUDDENLY

NEPHEW OF YPSILANTI MAN SUCCUMBS TO HEART FAILURE AT U. OF M.

Glanville Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamb, of Charlotte, and a nephew of John Lamb of this city, died very suddenly Monday night in Ann Arbor. Heart failure is assigned as the cause of death.

Mr. Lamb was well known in Ypsilanti, where he has often visited. He was nineteen years of age and was in his second year at the University of Michigan in the commercial law department. He belonged to the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and it was at the fraternity house, at 910 Cornwell Place, that his untimely death occurred. Mr. and Mrs. Lamb could not reach Ann Arbor until late this morning and the funeral arrangements have not been made.

Carpenter, secretary, left this noon for Jackson where they will attend a meeting of Grand Chapter which will be held there Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. F. G. Hutton, Mrs. J. S. Miller and Mrs. Milo Ehman will probably go Thursday for the day. Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Carpenter will attend the large reception which will be held at the Masonic Temple there this evening. WEBSTER ENTERS PLEA

"Not Guilty" Is Contention of Alleged Murderer of Wife as He Is Arraigned.

Oregon, Ill., Oct. 10.—The case of Dr. Harry E. Webster, the Chicago physician charged with the murder of his wife, was continued until the next term of court.

When Webster was arraigned in the Ogle county circuit court before Judge O. E. Heard he entered a plea of "not guilty." His counsel at once began arguments for a continuance.

A motion to quash the indictment on the ground that the body had not been properly identified was denied. The defense was given thirty days to file exceptions.

J. J. Garland, night ticket agent for the Northwestern at Dixon, was secretly taken to Oregon and after conversing with Dr. Webster, told the state's attorney that he could positively identify the prisoner as the man whom he saw in the Dixon railroad station on the evening of Friday, Sept. 15, in company with a woman, answering the description of Bessie Kent Webster. According to Garland, the couple came to Dixon on the Sterling passenger train, and quarreled openly on the platform and in the waiting room. They passed so much time in the quarrel that all of the hacks had left the station, and the man came to the agent with the request that he phone for one.

CORNELIUS N. BLISS DEAD

McKinley's Secretary of Interior Passes Away in New York Home.

New York, Oct. 10. — Cornelius N. Bliss, who was secretary of the interior under President McKinley and for many years treasurer of the Republican national committee, died at his home, 29 East Thirty-Seventh street, of heart failure. He was in his seventy-ninth year. He had suffered from heart trouble for more than a year. At his bedside were his wife, his daughter and son and daughter-in-law.

Mr. Bliss was ill all summer at his country place, Oceanic Park, at Oceonic, on the north Shrewsbury river. As autumn approached he seemed better and able to go about the grounds and take auto rides.

On Sunday, Sept. 24, the steamboat Albertina of Redbank, was chartered and Mr. Bliss was taken in automobile from his house to the landing and brought to New York. Mr. Bliss had to take to his bed three days ago.

ITALIANS TAKE TURKISH FORT

Tobruk, in Bombay Bay, Captured by Marines.

PLACE IS FIRST BOMBARDED

Italian Authorities at Tripoli Issue a Proclamation Suppressing Slavery—Further Details of the Bombardment.

Rome, Italy, Oct. 10. — Official dispatches received here say:

"Early Sunday the ships of the first Italian squadron entered the roadstead at Tobruk, in Bombay bay, 250 miles east of Bengazi, Tripoli, where they found no Turkish warships. They ordered the garrison to surrender, but the Turks replied with a flat refusal and hoisted the Turkish flag. The battleship Vittoria Emmanuele opened fire. The first shots carried away the flag and made a large breach in the fort.

"Rear Admiral Aubrey, commander in chief of the fleet, then landed several companies of marines, who overcame the resistance of the small Turkish force. The Italians occupied the fort. A few Turkish soldiers, who refused to abandon the fort without further fighting were made prisoners."

Albania and Epirus are being hurriedly fortified. The preparations perturb the Italians, who fear that the Turks are using the shelling of Prevesa and San Giovanni as a pretext to provoke a conflagration that will compel Austrian interference.

Italian authorities at Tripoli have issued a proclamation suppressing slavery. Tripoli was the only remaining port on the coast of Africa where slavery still prevailed, notwithstanding the efforts of Great Britain and France to prevent the traffic.

Restoration of the cable between Tripoli and Malta, which was cut Oct. 1, has enabled correspondents to transmit their accounts of the bombardment and occupation of the city. The Italians found 100 dead Turkish soldiers when they landed. Some had been killed by falling walls.

The streets were deserted, but after several hours the natives began to reappear in little groups. They made signs of submission and said that they had been in the utmost misery. There had been five years of drought and they begged rice and corn.

The Italians fired 280 shells. One struck the house of the native interpreter of the German consulate and four were killed. It is reported that the Arabs are attacking the Jews at a place near Tripoli. Sailors with a Maxium gun were sent to restore order.

SCENES AT THE FUNERAL OF REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Oct. 10.—Rear Admiral W. S. Schley was buried at Arlington with full naval and military honors. Every branch of the government honored the hero of Santiago. The streets were lined with bareheaded people as the longest and most imposing funeral since that of President McKinley escorted the gun carriage bearing his body to the National Cemetery. The Rose Croix services of the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry were performed at the residence. Thousands stood bareheaded as the body was lowered into a grave the site of which Admiral Schley had selected several months ago.

FIND SUICIDE IN ROADWAY

Despondent Bachelor Farmer Ends Life with Carbolic Acid.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 10.—With face badly discolored from the effects of carbolic acid, the lifeless body of David Meldrum, forty-five years old, was found lying in the roadway, six miles east of this city. Charles Benham and another man from Detroit, driving an auto, found the body and notified the authorities at Mt. Clemens. Coroner H. L. Scott brought the body to Undertaker McSweeney's morgue.

Meldrum was a bachelor and lived alone in Lake township near where his body was found. Coroner Scott is convinced that Meldrum ended his life through despondency caused by excessive drinking.

TWO CONVENTIONS OF INTEREST TO YPSILANTI WOMEN

Three important conventions in Detroit this present month are of large interest to Ypsilanti club women. On October 11 and 12 the state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at the Hotel Pontchartrain. Several of the local members will go in for the social events planned for Wednesday, the 11th, the chief one being the reception which Mrs. Newberry will give. A large number will attend the luncheon at the Pontchartrain on Thursday and the business sessions. All the chapters in the state will be represented, and the attendance promises to be uncommonly large.

The state federation of women's clubs will hold its annual meeting in Detroit October 18 and 19. Distinguished as this city is for its clubs, there will be a large delegation of Ypsilanti women upon that occasion.

On October 4, 5 and 6 in Detroit occurred the annual meeting of the Michigan branch of the King's Daughters. This organization is represented in Ypsilanti by two branches, the Do What You Can Circle of the King's Daughters and the Willing Workers, the latter of which has been only recently organized and was not represented at this convention on this account. The sessions of the convention were held in the First Congregational church on the corner of Woodward and Forest avenue.

YPSI WOMEN ARE ASKED TO AID FACULTY

Probably at no time since the old days in the '70s has a stronger effort been made to enforce discipline among Normal students than at present. In those times it was necessary for a girl in the college to secure permission from an instructor before she was at liberty to spend an evening in company with a gentleman. It was her duty to not only explain where she was planning to go but to give the name of the gentleman by whom she had been invited. Steps are being taken by President Jones as well as by Miss Fuller, dean of the college, and others, not to return to this old custom by any means, but to in a measure abolish the custom, practiced by some few girls, and deplored by all others, of accepting the company of men, maybe gentlemen and maybe not,—whenever opportunity is afforded and whether or not a previous acquaintance has existed.

The chief aim at present is to keep the few indiscreet girls who would accept a street acquaintance from doing so and to also enforce in every rooming house in the city the ten o'clock law. Since the latter regulation is more generally violated than any other, special stress is being placed upon that requirement and the following letter has been accordingly mailed to women in the city who have students in their rooms:

"To the Women Renting Rooms to Normal Students:

"President Jones is of the opinion that we should announce at this time that all houses where students room shall be known as "ten o'clock houses," which is to say that callers are to take their leave by this hour in the evening and that our students, unless by special previous arrangement, shall be at home by this time. This custom has the sanction of the best social usage everywhere. He is making the announcement in the senior and junior lectures and I take this means of letting you know what he is telling them. We look for the cooperation of the young people and yourselves; however, serious individual cases of non-conformity, should be reported to President Jones or to myself. We shall consider it a pleasure to have your opinion upon this point if your view differs from our own. President Jones is usually in his office from 9 to 11; my office hour at the training school is from 3 to 4 except Monday and Saturday; and at my house, 35 South Summit street from 7 to 8 o'clock Monday evening.

"With assurance of our appreciation of your great assistance to us in the care of our students, and with best wishes for a successful year, I am,

"Very sincerely yours,
"GRACE FULLER,
"Dean of Women."

Aside from this letter to housekeepers special advice along similar lines has been directed to the students in lectures and all women in the college have been asked to keep off the streets on either Friday, Saturday or Sunday evenings, during the first weeks of their college work. By the many women in college, who realize the possible results of indiscreet movements, these steps for their aid on the part of the Normal faculty members is being greatly appreciated; by others it is much needed and will, no doubt, be as thoroughly appreciated later.

OFFICERS START A CLEANUP ON STREET LOAFERS; J. KLINE FINED

Joseph Kline of North River street was arrested Monday on a charge of creating a disturbance on the streets Sunday evening. He was arraigned before the local justice Monday afternoon and pleaded guilty. The justice fined him $5 and the costs, $3.40.

For some time past it has been the habit of men, young men especially, to congregate on the streets in the business section, and attract attention of the people on their way to evening service Sunday evening by their loud talking and remarks addressed to young women who are passing by. The local officers are determined to put a stop to this practise and warning is given that offenders will be severely dealt with.

SUSPICION AGAINST THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

It looks as if a demand will be made for a thorough investigation of the department of agriculture. The suspicion which will inevitably be lodged agaist it by the report now current that a government report long since due on the condition and value of large areas of public land in Florida for the purpose, as charged, of enabling certain unscrupulous real estate agents and others to defraud the people by selling to them a lot of worthless land, will not abate until a thorough house-cleaning or some other fumigation process is made in a way satisfactory to the people at large Secretary Wilson has headed the administration of affairs in this department during its most successful years. But Secretary Wilson seemed to side with Ex-Secretary Ballinger of the Interior Department after most of the people had forsaken him. And Secretary Wilson seemed to lend his influence with the attorney-general in endeavoring to oust Dr. Wiley from the department of chemistry. But the almost universal insistence which came from all quarters for his retention left it plain that the people believed in Wiley and that the poisoners of food were chiefly responsible for the campaign instituted to discredit him.

The currently reported friendliness of the Secretary of Agriculture for the liquor interests will only contribute to the feeling that he is friendly to the enemies of Wiley, for the liquor interests have openly charged that they would have his scalp for simply insisting that they should correctly label their products, and tell what they contained, just as much as the manufacturers of catsup or the canners of beef, and all under an interpretation of the pure food law in such a way as to protect the public from poisonous adulterations.

We have nothing but contempt for the author of an untruthful rumor intended to harm an innocent party or an institution. But the circumstances connected with the criticism of this department for not publishing its report on the Florida public lands when that report was read and when it should have taken judicial notice that the magazines were full of exploiting advertisements, which were intended to separate the people from their cash in exchange for a lot of worthless swamp land, and which were undoubtedly successful to the tune of millions, are circumstances which call for a satisfactory explanation from this department, and an explanation which ought not to be delayed.

The "leak" from this department, which enabled some speculators to clean up a few millions on cotton, seemed to have the immediate condemnation of the secretary of the department and the removal of the official responsible for the "leak." But unless this charge is satisfactorily explained, the people are liable to suspect that such things are likely to happen in this department and in such a way that no adequate remedy can be applied. For it is small consolation to thousands of citizens of small means, after they have lost the accumulation of years perhaps, to be informed that the official in some department of the government, who was really responsible for their loss, had been removed from office. We trust that a thorough investigation will be immediately forthcoming and that what is probably the most important single department in the government may be placed upon a basis of complete confidence in the minds of the people.

The people are likely to remember that Senator Fletcher of Florida, who is charged with helping to influence the department of agriculture in holding back its report on Florida swamp land, was probably the most prominent United States senator to hurry to the defence of Senator Lorimer, the senator from Illinois accused of having secured his seat through wholesale bribery.

THE ICE SUPPLY

By H. H. MUSSELMAN.
OF THE MICHIGAN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Perhaps during some of the hotter days of summer not a few have resolved to forestall the running of the butter, the souring of the milk and the spoiling of the roast by means of some method of cooling. The present is not a bad time to think about carrying these resolves into action.

One method where good ice may be obtained at a reasonable distance from a lake or stream is to provide an ice house and ice box or refrigerator. Ice making, though somewhat disagreeable, may be done at a time of the year when other work is slack, and if attacked in the right way is no worse than much other work which must be done. With a bountiful supply of ice and a refrigerator of sufficient capacity, cold storage may be provided for food and dairy products. It is recommended that a refrigerator of not less than 100 pounds capacity of ice be used for average conditions, and one of from 150 pounds to 200 pounds capacity will be found to advantage in some cases.

The ice box or refrigerator should be easily accessible to the kitchen and dining room, and for filling. If placed so that it may be filled without entering the house a great deal of dirt may be avoided. This is sometimes accomplished by placing the refrigerator on the back porch or in a permanent location where it may be filled from an outside window.

With regard to ice storage, an expensive or specially constructed building is not essential. Any room of proper dimensions where good under drainage may be provided, the walls fairly air tight and so arranged that ventilation may be secured above, ice may be stored without great loss from melting. A building designed for this purpose will have several points of advantage, however.

In building an ice house the capacity is the first thing to be considered. Solid ice weighs about 56 pounds per cubic foot, and stored ice, allowing for voids between cakes and layers, averages about 40 pounds per cubic foot. On this basis a cube of stored ice 10x10x10 would weight 20 tons. Assuming a consumption of 500 pounds per week a weight of one ton per month would be consumed, which for six months would be six tons. Considerable allowance must be made for meltage, however, so that it is safe to say that space for not less than 15 or 20 tons should be provided. In cutting ice the size of cakes should be such as will be best suited to loading, storing, and the size of the refrigerator. A cake of ice 8 in. thick, 18 in. wide and 30 in. long weighs 140 pounds, so that some care should be taken not to get the cakes too large for handling, especially where lifting must be done.

The keeping property of ice depends almost altogether on how well it is insulated from the heat. Air, mineral wool, asbestos, sawdust, shavings and chaff are good nonconductors. Air is one of the best provided it is confined to small porous spaces as in the voids in sawdust, shavings, etc. Dry materials are also more effective as nonconductors of heat, as a rule, than wet. Let us note how these principles may be applied in ice storage.

We have mentioned good drainage beneath the ice. In any event there will be considerable meltage and the water thus formed should be drained away to prevent wetting of the nonconducting material and thereby rendering it less effective. A line of ordinary drain tile should be laid under the center or along each side below the ice and covered with six inches of gravel or cinders. On the cinders or gravel there should be placed from six inches to 12 inches of sawdust or shavings, upon which the ice is laid.

The walls of the ice house may consist of studding sheathed on the inside with rough lumber and with tar paper and siding outside. Cement blocks should also make excellent walls since they do not deteriorate by dampness as does wood. Little is gained by placing sawdust between the sheathing and siding, as it is likely to become damp. Placing it thus does save rehandling each year, however. In any case the total thickness of insulation should not be less than 12 inches either at the sides, above or below the ice.

Ventilation is necessary above the ice to keep the air and insulating material dry. This may be accomplished by latticed windows and a ventilating flue or shaft at the peak of the roof. Protection from the sun is also advantageous. Shade trees and wide roof projection help in this respect. A continuous door in the ice house is also desirable so that the ice may be put in at any level and unnecessary lifting avoided either in filling or taking out. Some means of keeping this opening closed quite tightly as high as the top of the nonconducting material should also be provided. To prevent channels forming for air to circulate heat to the ice, the insulating material should be rammed or packed down at intervals as the ice melts away, and the top always kept well covered after each time ice is taken out.

Agents' Easy Task.

Some people are so easy, a Republic County (Kan.) editor says, that a smart agent could sell them a contagious disease.

AUTUMN FEED FOR THE FARM FLOCK

The question of pasturage for sheep in autumn is not as serious a problem as in the case of cattle or horses following a hot dry summer. The sheep grazes so closely it can thrive on pastures too sparce for other stock. It also relishes such a great variety of vegetation, including nearly all weeds, that sufficient food is to be found in lanes, fence corners, meadows, stubble fields, cut-over wood lands, corn fields, etc. As a gleaner the sheep is valuable in converting waste products into money and ridding the farm of weeds. Almost every cultivated field on the Michigan Agricultural college farm is gleaned by sheep during the autumn. We do not find injury resulting from grazing well established and thrifty seedings, providing they are not cropped too closely. An interesting case was observed a year or two ago in the case of a Michigan potato grower who was unable to give his potatoes sufficient cultivation at the proper time, thus permitting numerous weeds to get a vigorous start. A flock of sheep was turned in the potato field with the result that they cleaned up the weeds entirely, leaving the potatoes uninjured. A rape pasture is very desirable for sheep in the fall. It may be grown alone broadcast or in drills, or it may be sown with oats or corn.

R. S. SHAW.

COMMERCIAL FERTILIZER VS. HUMUS.

By A. J. PATTEN,
OF THE MICHIGAN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

COMMERCIAL fertilizers should be used to supplement the manures made on the farm and the green manure such as clover, vetch, rye, etc. The manures made or grown upon the farm usually contain small amounts of the plant food elements, but are rich in organic matter or humus-forming material. These home manures serve to keep the soil in good physical conditions and are absolutely essential to successful farming.

Commercial fertilizers are more universally successful when used on land that is kept well supplied with organic matter. This may easily be demonstrated by running the fertilizer drill across a field that has been fertilized with barnyard manure. The path of the drill will usually be conspicuous owing to the increased growth of grain. Very often fertilizers used on land devoid of or low in organic matter fail to give satisfactory returns, and they are consequently condemned as being worthless. In many cases of this kind the fault does not lie in the fertilizer, but in the condition of the land. Commercial fertilizers require moisture in the soil to bring them into solution. Soils deficient in organic matter are not retentive of moisture, consequently the plant food contained in the fertilizer is either not brought into solution at all or may be leeched out of the soil and be carried away in the drainage water.

The idea which many farmers hold in regard to the use of commercial fertilizers, that once the practice is commenced they must always be used because their action upon the land is such that after once used nothing can be grown without them, is entirely erroneous. This idea undoubtedly was originated by those who used commercial fertilizers to the exclusion of all humus-forming materials such as barnyard manure and green manure.

Commercial fertilizers alone will not restore the fertility of a run down soil. This can only be done by using materials having a large amount of organic matter. This fact cannot be too strongly emphasized, and it should be repeated over and over.

The supply of humus in the soil must be maintained, and this can only be done by using materials rich in organic matter, such as barnyard manure or green manures, (clover, vetch cowpeas, rye, etc.).

Commercial fertilizers are used to furnish plant food in a more readily avaliable form than it exists in the soil, while the humus-forming fertilizers are used to improve the physical condition of the soil in which the plants must live.

There are, of course, other conditions governing the productive capacity of a soil, such as cultivation, drainage, climatic conditions, seed seletion, etc., but these cannot be discussed at this time.

Take Care of Farm Machinery.

Don't wait until the fall rains or winter snows cover the machinery with rust, warp the wood and scale off the paint. It is more than worth the trouble to get the machinery under cover as soon as it has done its season's work. An implement shed will pay for itself in a few years.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Ypsilanti given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

H. V. Deitrich, electrician, 322 Maple St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "I can speak in the highest terms of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them and they have been taken by other members of my family, all of us receiving benefit. There is no other remedy as effective as Doan's Kidney Pills in relieving pain in the loins or other troubles caused by the kidneys. We procured our first box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s Store and always intend to keep a supply on hand." (Statement given December 19, 1908..

Hearing of the many cures by Father John's Medicine, we made a trial and are glad to state that after taking three bottles, a decided change took place, the patient having recovered her voice, which had been impaired for nearly two years. Would that every family knew its value." (Signed) Ursuline Sisters, Ursuline Convent, Waterville, Me.

Remember, Father John's Medicine is free from opium, morphine or poisonous drugs in any form upon which so many of the so-called cough cures depend for their temporary effect and which are dangerous—we again warn you against them. Not a patent medicine. Fifty years in use.

AUCTION

Monday, October 23rd

Having sold our farm, a public auction will be held on Monday, October 23, at the farm. It is located one-half mile south of the village of West Sumpter, in the township of Sumpter, Wayne county. It is about four miles southeast of Willis.

PRIVATE SALE NOW ON

I am offering this entire herd at private sale, and it must be moved by November 1. There are bargains all along the line. In the "battle of the breeds" the Holstein is conceded to be the most popular, as well as profitable, dairy animal today. "There's a reason." The breed occupies almost exclusively the whole country of Holland. It has held exclusive sway there for several centuries. It has developed the most verile type of dairy animal. It holds the world's record for both the largest production of milk and butter and has held it for years; and it keeps breaking its own records. No other breed has been able to "break in". Now that the individual cream-separator occupies the field the shrewd farmer clearly sees that, if he has both the quantity of milk and cream, he can make milk of any desired proportions. Grade Holstein veal is conceded to be as fine as any and, should any dairy cow go wrong, you have a 1200- or 1400-pound animal with a good appetite, ready to make good beef. And this good appetite and good health are constitutional and takes all kinds of farm forage and makes all the milk there is in it.

The big buy is Woodcrest De Kol Lad, the $1,000 senior sire at $300. The next biggest buy is the $500 30-pound junior sire, Sir Canary Pietertje Burke, at $200. And next to these will be the choice of several of the best yearling sons of Woodcrest De Kol Lad out of ARO dams, for $100. These are easily $200 values. And then for those who are not in need of sires ready for service and wish to make $25 on an investment of $75 in three months, there will be the choice from several sons of Woodcrest De Kol Lad of equally choice breeding for $75. These are surely $150 values. Get your first choice.

SPORTING NEWS

SOPHS ADD ANOTHER VICTORY WHEN THEY DEFEAT THE SENIORS

The second game of the high school inter-class series of football games was played Monday afternoon on Reinhart's field. The Sophomores, who were victorious last week over the Juniors, again showed their superiority by defeating the Seniors, 15 to 0. A very large crowd was present and the inter-class series of games, which were tried last year for the first time seem to be as popular as the school team games with outside schools in former years.
to defend the north goal. The Sophomores kicked. Neither team for a while was able to make consistent gains on the other. Finally Langton, the Sophomore quarterback, kicked from near the middle of the field, and Richards, a Sophomore, got the ball on the Senior 20–yard line and went for a touchdown. Richards failed to kick goal. This ended the scoring for the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Sophomores got the jump on the Seniors and rushed the ball right up to the goal posts. Here the Seniors made a stand until the third down, when with three yards to gain Langton went through for the second touchdown; score 10 to 0. Richards again failed to kick goal. The Sophomores then kicked from the middle of the field to the Senior 20–yard line, and the Seniors made no return. They punted to the Senior 40–yard line, from which point the Sophomores rushed the ball for another touchdown. No goal was kicked and the first half ended, 15 to 0.

But the scoring ended right there. The Seniors took a brace and in the second half showed themselves the equals of the Sophomores. The Seniors executed one beautiful forward pass after another, Capt. Seckinger making excellent throws to Robinson, Reinhart and white. Besides this work Seckinger distinguished himself in this half in every department of the game. On the kick–off Seckinger returned the ball 20 yards and then made a 20–yard forward pass to Reinhart. The ball was fumbled, Langton recovered it and the Sophomores kicked to Lyman. The Seniors again made 20–yards on a forward pass from Seckinger to White. On the next attempt however Richards, a Sophomore, caught the ball. The Sophomores kicked to Langton who returned it 10 yards. White then kicked to Langton on the Senior 50–yard line. Langton kicked to Lyman, and again the Seniors worked a beautiful forward pass, the ball at the end of the third quarter being on the Senior 40–yard line.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter the most spectacular play of the whole game was pulled off, a forward pass from Seckinger to White. White had a clear field before him for a touchdown, but he was overtaken by Richards after making about 50 yards. The Sophomores kicked to Lyman who was downed in his tracks. The Seniors after working another 20–yard pass were held for downs. Langton made a nice run around left end for 10 yards and then tried to drop–kick from the 30–yard line but failed. Time was here called and the game ended 15 to 0, just as it stood at the end of the first half.

It was a peculiar game. In the first half when straight football was used the Sophomores completely outclassed the Seniors, but in the second half when the Seniors opened up with forward passes the Sophomores seemed bewildered and instead of pulling off some forward passes themselves as they did so successfully last week against the Juniors, they kept on at straight football.

The line–up was as follows:

Seniors—H. Smith, C; W. Emery, LG; A. Harvey, LT; L. Banghart, LE; P. Rankin, RG; D. Ohlinger, RT; H. White, RE; C. Seckinger, QB; O. Robinson, FB; F. Reinhart, LH; L. Lyman, RH.

Sophomores—F. Ring, C; W. Proctor, LG; P. Vose, LT; M. James, LE; J. Woods, RG; A. Thayer, RT; G. Robinson, RE; C. Langton, QB; W. Davis, FB; A. Richards, LH; A. Maulbetsch, RH

WALK-OVERS WIN OPENER BY SHUTOUT

The City Bowling League opened the season Monday night with a contest between the Walk–Overs and Keusch & Shepherd and the Walk–Overs showed their class by taking three straight in a devisive manner. The scores were ordinary as might be expected at this time of the year and the Keusch & Shepherd team were handicapped more or less by stage fright, this being the first time any of then ever rolled in a matched game, but they have the class and will give a good account of themselves with a little more experience.

Al. Harner was the most consistent bowler with an average of 165 and the Walk–Overs had one team score of 791, which is very good. The score in detail follows:

Walk–Overs.
Ziegler	167	168	139
Al Harner	179	149	168

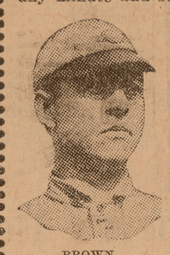
BROWN IS GREATEST GAME SAVER.

The pitcher of most value to a club is one who can go in at any minute and stop the attack of the opposing team when they start getting after a twirler who has weakened. In this respect Mordecai Brown of the Chicago Cubs is the greatest game saver in the country. The three fingered miner has worked in fifty contests this season, the largest number that a pitcher in the National league has taken part in.



BROWN.

Brown has been Frank Chance's sole reliance this year when one of the other men on his staff started wavering, and only for him the Cubs would not have finished in second place. Reulbach, Richie and a few others of the Cub slabmen have been given credit for a lot of victories which would not be theirs had not Brown been called on to finish the game.

HOW MACK DIFFERS FROM OTHER MANAGERS.

Never appears upon the field. Conducts his campaign entirely from the bench.

Has not worn a uniform for many years. His voice is never heard raised in protest against an umpire's decisions.

Does not depend upon anybody else's dope. Keeps his own dope book.

Watches for weaknesses in opposing batsmen. Can tell a batsman's failing better than the man who pitches to him.

CONNIE MACK, MANAGER OF THE PHILADELPHIA AMERICANS.

Keeps a record of practically every ball pitched in a game. His score book tells the complete story of every engagement.

Holds daily conferences an hour before each game and points out the mistakes made in the previous day's battle.

Avoids trouble upon his team by benching malcontents and trouble makers. Insists upon explanations by the trouble makers, and if explanation is not forthcoming the men don't play.

Believes in developing young players by keeping them on the team and making them watch the regulars.

Some of the means to be suggested to the congress will be the training of Indians on the western reservations in scientific agriculture; establishment of bureaus for the assistance of Indians in obtaining higher education and bureaus for finding employment for Indians.

Students Wear Athletic Button.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 10. — The 1911-1912 athletic button has made its appearance on the campus. This year the emblem is a base ball, in dark blue enamel, with a yellow block "M" surmounting it. A fad with Michigan students is to wear for their whole four years, or as long as their course may be, the athletic button they bought in their freshman year, thus a glance at the lapel of a student's coat shows his year.

School Sweethearts Wed.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 10. — A romance started in childhood days when Miss Ruth Wilson of this city and Quincy A. Brackett of Pittsburg, Pa., attended school together in Cambridge, Mass., ended in their wedding here. The two were engaged to wed before they left school and the promise made in their childhood days was carried out in one of the prettiest weddings Kalamazoo has had this year.

Doctors' Prescription For Eczema

The most advanced physicians of this country and Europe are now prescribing a wash of wintergreen thymol and other soothing and healing ingredients for the cure of Eczema, Psoriasis and all other forms of skin trouble. This compound is known as the D. D. D. Prescription.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as is quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years."

I myself vouch for the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema and absolutely guarantee that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

If you will call at my store I will be glad to let you have a bottle on the guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find it does the work. And you decide.

Drop into my store, anyway, and as I have seen a great many cases of skin trouble, I will give you free a pamphlet giving directions for bathing, diet, etc., for all kinds of skin trouble.

Ask for the D. D. D. pamphlet, "Cause and Cure of Skin Disease." Get posted on this wonderful remedy today.
